Blueberry

New Thornless BOYSENBERRY

Order by Catalog No. N-2815

The most profitable vine fruit in cultivation today, producing better than 6 tons of fruit per acre. Berries average 1 1/2 to 2 inches long and 1 inch thick. Vines are absolutely thornless, so don't confuse this with the old thorny variety. Flavor is a combination of Raspberry, Loganberry and Blackberry, from which it was crossed and originated. An outstanding fruit to serve fresh, for pies, jellies or to put in your freezer. Set plants 6 feet apart each way. Extremely hardy. 5 Plants $1.40; 10 for $2.50; 25 for $4.75; 50 for $8.50; 100 for $15.00. Prepaid.

New Cultivated BLUEBERRY

Everybody loves Blueberries, but you really never have tasted any good ones unless you have eaten some of these Cultivated varieties. Fruits are as large as the end of your thumb. Produced in profusion on strong, stately bushes. They are different than most plants, requiring acid soil; therefore, before planting mix a little Peat Moss, sawdust or leaf mold with the soil to keep it acid. Berries grow in clusters like small bunches of Grapes. Sweet and mild with hardly any seeds. Fruit ripens from early July until the forepart of August. Plant no less than two to insure cross-pollination.

My Garden and I

FOR more than a score of years, my garden and I have been good friends . . . friends that never bore, never impose and never inflict any penalties upon one another. We understand each other . . . and as a result . . . both of us flourish. But my garden is different from the average . . . vastly different.

For instance, in the average garden when one plants petunias, petunias come up and bloom . . . and if one plants radishes, radishes grow! But I repeat, my garden is different . . . I plant petunias, asters, zinnias and harvest in bountiful return . . . contentment, satisfaction, relaxation and appreciativeness.

In short, my garden gives me solace and quietude from a world of turmoil and strife . . . it is the one spot in my life, where, after the world extracts eight, ten and even twelve hours of physical and mental energy, I can gather to me a feeling of contentment, and rest, that try as I may, I cannot duplicate it in any other manner, believe me.

To start with, my garden is no different than that patch of ground outside your own doorstep . . . it starts out exactly the same as that . . . with dirt . . . the stuff for which children are scolded when they become too familiar with it . . . and yet, did you ever see a healthy normal youngster that didn't like to dig in the soil?

There's something warm and intimate in working with good growing-earth . . . and why not . . . does not life itself stem from the very earth? So, when I plant my garden I feel privileged indeed to stimulate to life the tiny live spark deep within each seed . . . I love seeds . . . small diminutive specks endowed by God with the power to bring forth living testimony of Nature's greatness . . . it makes me stop and think . . . when I plant a seed! And when I realize that that privilege is mine, something inside me swells with a feeling that wipes away all man-made cares and tribulations.

Yes, gardening brings a man to his knees, right down to earth . . . and for most of us that's good . . . for too often do we walk among our fellow men with our noses held just a bit too high! But on your knees in contact with the moist soil, gently warmed by Spring's early sunshine, ah! that's the time you have a moment to yourself in which to relax and think about the worth-while things in life.

Oh, yes, the world passes by my garden and admires its beauty of color . . . its fragility of blooms and its generosity of crisp, health-giving vegetables . . . some of my friends and neighbors comment on the practical side of my gardening . . . even smack their lips in anticipation of preserved fruits and tasty vegetables, way out of season . . . and others perhaps envy my "savings." Yes, those things, the passing world sees and admires.

Perhaps that's why I smile to them and to myself when their words of praise ring in my ears, for little does the world know that the outward signs of my gardening are but the aftermath of the true harvest of gardening . . . the feeling inside, that you're glad that you're alive . . . that there's a God in Heaven . . . and that once again throughout the world shall re-echo the cry that "All's Well."

The twist and curls of these blooms are very similar to the twist and curls on the little girl's head pictured to the right, which prompted me to name this after my first Grand-daughter.

Mary Catherine
6 yrs old

This new curly-headed Hardy Chrysanthemum, in our opinion, is the most beautiful and most satisfactory outdoor Mum yet introduced. The flowers are extremely large for an outdoor blooming variety, averaging 3 to 3½ inches across with 5 to 6 blooms on a single stem. If desired you can have much larger blooms by disbudding the side shoots and leaving only one bloom in the center.

When the buds first appear, they seem like a little ball of butter but as they unfold, twist and curl, they expand to a beautiful white with a tinge of lemon-yellow in the center making a contrasting color different than any other Mum. The plant is a vigorous grower, averaging 28" to 36" tall, deep green foliage, attractive leaves making a beautiful contrast between the blooms and foliage. Come into bloom forepart of September, furnishing an array of blossoms until severe freezing weather sets in. Ideal for garden display and unexcelled to cut for bouquets, to give to a sick friend and to beautify your own living room.

I wouldn't sell the girl in the picture for a million in gold, but you can have a few of these New Hardy Mum Plants, MARY CATHERINE "CURLYHEAD" if ordered promptly at the following special prices:

2 for $1.00—4 for $1.75
6 for $2.40, postpaid.

Condon's Cannon Ball Cabbage—Extra Early

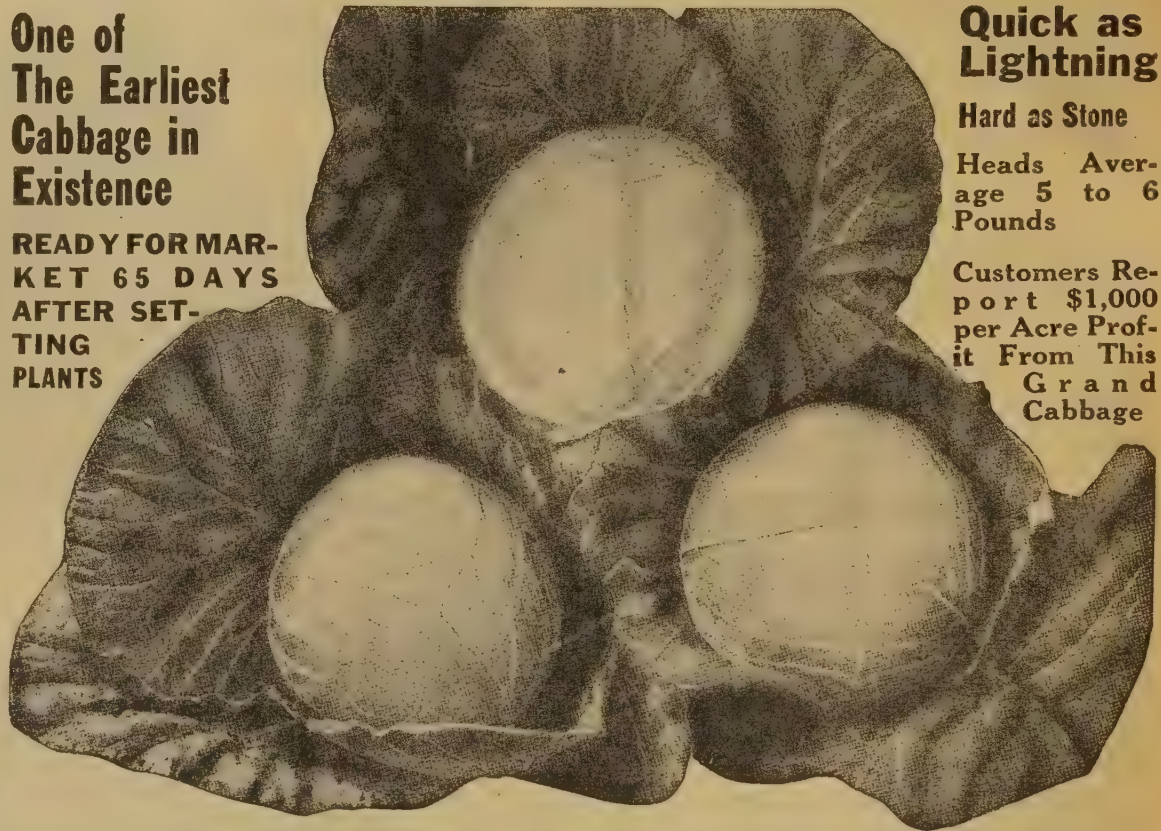

Universal Favorite Throughout the Nation

Catalog No. 249

Condon's Cannon Ball represents the highest achievement in Cabbage breeding, and is the best extra early round headed Cabbage we have ever grown or seen. In uniformity to type and evenness in early maturing it is a marvel. Every row and every head in a row looks as nearly alike as if all had been turned out of a mold. Its evenness in maturing has proved it a great favorite with all Cabbage growers as they appreciate the great importance of being able to clear off the ground at one cutting, especially where room is required for a second crop. The plants are of compact, stocky growth, producing large, solid, ball-shaped heads which average about five pounds in weight, and are of the very finest quality, smooth with fine veins and small core. Pkt. 15c; 1/2 oz. 30c; oz. 50c; 1/4 lb. 90c; 1/2 lb. $1.60; lb. $3.00; postpaid.

309 New Super Snowball

This is the earliest of all varieties we have ever seen. It makes a firm, solid head 6 to 9 inches in diameter in about 85 days after sowing. Even under unfavorable conditions it will head up well, heads forming all at one time, showing a uniformity of size, shape, and type. The plants make a compact dwarf growth. The head is almost round. Has a beautiful pure white, smooth curd. Dry weather does not materially check its growth and therefore is able to resist diseases. EGG PLANT

Delicious Vegetable—Easy to Grow.
Include in Your Garden This Spring.
1 oz. of Egg Plant seed will produce about 1000 plants.

May be cooked in various ways. The fruits are at their best edible stage when the skin has attained a high gloss. Use when young, at which time the seeds will be small and hardly noticeable. Keep fruits picked off as they become ready and plants should bear until frost. A rich, sandy, warm soil produces the best plants and yields the highest number of fruits. Seed should be started in a hotbed, or indoors in shallow boxes, 8 to 9 weeks before the time to set the plants out in the garden. Don't plant in the garden until danger of frost is past.

380 Large New York Purple

The intensely brilliant coloring is uniform over the whole fruit. Pkt. 15c; oz. 75c; 1/4 lb. $2.00; 1/2 lb. $3.50; lb. $6.75, postpaid.

287 Condon's Select Danvers "Supreme Strain"

For Critical Market Gardeners and Private Planters
—The Earliest and Sweetest of All Table Carrots
Used Annually by the Largest Planters

Danvers carrots have been the standard for over fifty years and we need not try to offer any proof as to their popularity. Carrot-breeding is in about the same class as stock-breeding, and if same is not kept true, will deteriorate very quickly. We have endeavored to do more than keep the old parent sort true, and have actually bred up the quality of Danvers Carrot to such perfection that the old parent sort would be ashamed of itself. To distinguish our sort from others, we have termed our strain Condon's Select Danvers. Same has been bred for quality and for yield and on a given acreage it has produced a larger crop of marketable roots than any other garden or table variety. The roots are of a rich orange color, crisp and sweet. Pkt. 15c; oz. 45c; ¼ lb. 90c; ½ lb. $1.50; 1b. $2.75, postpaid.

Sweet as Sugar Customer Writes

Cushing, Okla., Aug. 28.

Condon Bros. Seedsmen.

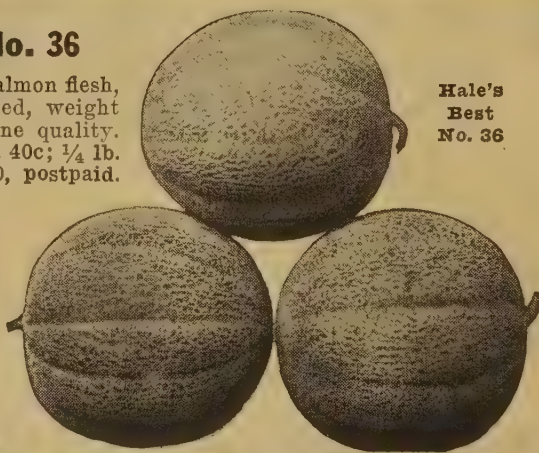

Gentlemen: Last year I ordered some of your Supreme Perfection Muskmelon Seed at Springdale, Arkansas. I had some of the Seed left over and planted 70 hills here at Cushing. I have raised lots of Muskmelon in the past, but this melon takes the head of the class.

Yours very truly, C. G. BATHE.

It is solid, with very few small white seeds. The outer skin is light green, striped and blotched with dark green, rather tough, and does not bruise easily. A good shipping melon because of the texture of the skin and the strength of the rind, and it will travel to distant markets and arrive in perfect condition. Produces sturdy, strong vines that carry a large number of melons. It has all the good qualities demanded by commercial growers and is perfectly adapted to the smaller home-garden. 500 Kleckley's Sweets No. 6—Wilt Resistant

500 Kleckley's Sweets No. 6—Wilt Resistant

Great 80 day Melon—"Sweetest of All"

Suitable for Shipping One to Three Hundred Miles

There is no melon superior in quality to a good strain of Kleckley's Sweets. The bright scarlet flesh is the ideal of water melon quality—firm, crisp, entirely free from stringiness or cotton, and "sweet as sugar."

The melon is oblong in shape, about 20 inches in length by 10 to 12 inches in diameter. The skin is a rich dark green; the rind is thin and brittle, and for this reason the melon is not a good shipper to a distance beyond two or three hundred miles, but for home use and nearby market consumption it's got 'em all backed off the list. Our seed is all saved from hand selected, uniform, well shaped, fully matured, ripe melons. This extra care in selecting the melons from which the seed is saved costs a little more than the method generally used but it insures you seed of the highest quality with strong, vigorous germination. Pkt. 15c; oz. 40c; $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. 65c; $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$1.00; lb. \$1.85; 2 lbs. \$3.50; 5 lbs. \$8.50, postpaid.

A new melon of genuine merit. It has suddenly become very popular on the markets of the Midwest, due to its earliness combined with large size, and its attractive appearance—plus fine quality. Mushroom beds may be made in a warm, dry cellar or in any building where the frost does not penetrate, and in the open air during the summer and fall months. Having procured the spawn, the next thing to be attended to is to make preparations for the beds. About a fortnight or three weeks before the beds are to be made collect a quantity of fresh horse manure without the straw; place it in a heap under cover, and as it heats keep turning it over once or twice a week, until the fiery heat has become exhausted, which will require from ten to fourteen days' time. When the manure is in a condition to be made up, lay out your bed according to complete easily-understood directions which we send free with each order. One brick will spawn a bed 10 feet by 10 feet.

About Condon's First of All Tomato

"Your First of All Tomatoes are wonderful. I made big money on my crop this year."—Fred G. Deishlie.

Gentlemen:

Dec. 25, Sioux Center, Iowa.

As we had a fine crop of your First of All Tomatoes we had about 2000 plants this year and harvested 500 Bushel of them. We want to praise them very highly, and besides that we enclose a photo of my husband holding a cluster in his hand with 42 well developed Tomatoes on it, and the same vine produced 84 more well grown Tomatoes, and the vine was full of blossoms. We were indeed very well pleased with them. Yours truly, Mr. & Mrs. Ed. Poel.

Gentlemen: I am sending you a cluster of your First of All Tomatoes, that I grew this year. This cluster contains ten large luscious tomatoes. Many clusters contained twelve to fifteen tomatoes. I don't see how the vine holds them up. They are the best I ever saw. I make big money on them.—Earl Mouck.

Originated on our Famous Rock River Valley Seed Farms. Better Today Than Ever.

Absolutely Coreless, Practically Seedless, Solid Meat, and a Beautiful Bright Red Color. If you don't give this grand variety a trial this year you are neglecting your own interests

In shape, CONDON'S PEERLESS is smooth, well formed and extremely deep from stem to blossom, making it unusually heavy. It ripens evenly to the stem and is without ridges or cracks; it has great meatiness and few seeds. It is firm without being hard, unrivalled home and market tomato. Its beautiful appearance and color make it sell ahead of all sorts, and its unusual solidity, few seeds and desirable form for rapid peeling without waste, make it a most desirable canning and slicing variety. A fine strain of Southern grown open pollinated white ensilage corn, selected by ourselves, which has proved to be one of the most valuable and largest yielding ensilage corns in cultivation. It grows very tall, attaining a height of 12 to 14 feet; is prolific in its nature, having from two to three ears to the stalk, makes a heavy thick growth of fodder, and is altogether, in our opinion and in the opinion of those who have tested it, the best and most productive of ensilage corns. ½ lb., 30 cts.; 1 lb., 50 cts.; 2½ lbs., $1.10; 5 lbs., $1.75; 10 lbs., $3.00, postpaid.

Ft. Collins, Colo., Aug. 23
Gentlemen: Your "Silo King" Corn is everything you say. Our field of Corn stands 13 feet, 6 inches tall, each stalk has 1 to 4 ears of Corn and the greatest amount of foliage we have ever seen. This field is the envy of the surrounding territory and I'm sure there will be many acres planted next year. Yours truly, William Scheller, Rt. 4, Box 172.

CONDON'S "SILO KING" CORN

1309 FUNK'S-G-114-HYBRID SEED CORN—BEST BY TEST

Field Scene of One of Our Fields of "G"-114 Hybrid Seed Corn Grown Here at Rockford

Some people call it "intestinal fortitude." Others call it simply "guts." Anyway, in G-114, it's the ability to stand up against the beating that the North Central Corn Belt often hands out in weather and in insect attacks. Against cold spring dampness. . . . Against scorching summer drought. . . . Against blasting wind. . . . Against corn borers and other insect enemies. G-114 comes through. Even when harvest is long delayed, G-114 stands, firmly erect. In Iowa 4-year tests, its percentage of lodging was lowest (2.9%) of any strain entered. And it yields with the best. G-114 foliage stays green after the ear starts to mature, making the extra starch necessary to finish both a heavy ear and a strong stalk. ½ lb. 35c; 1 lb. 60c; 2½ lbs. $1.35; 5 lbs. $2.50; 10 lbs. $4.50, postpaid.

"How to Get the Most Out of Your Plantings"

Questions, Answers and Recommendations Based on Exhaustive Test and Experiments
by State Agricultural Colleges and Our Own Personal Experience of More than 50 Years

We recommend that all Clovers and Alfalfa Seed be inoculated with Nitragin before sowing to insure quick, vigorous growth and a profitable crop.

1—In the event that part of your Clover and Alfalfa Seeding of last spring and last fall winter kills, what could you use that would make a profitable Annual Hay Crop? Answer—Canadian Field Peas and Oats. Use $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushel of each per acre, drilling in as soon as you can get on the ground. Average yield $2\frac{1}{4}$ tons per acre. Relished by all stock, especially valuable as dairy feed, almost equal to Clover pound for pound. Cut just as soon as Oats begin to color up. If you want to use later for hog pasture add 5 lbs. of Dwarf Essex Rape per acre.

2—What Is the Next Best Annual Hay Crop? Answer—A combination of Sand Vetch and Oats using 30 to 40 lbs. of Vetch and $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of Oats per acre. Seed with a regular grain drill at Oat seeding time. Feeding value trifle less than a mixture of Canadian Field Peas and Oats. Yield $2\frac{1}{2}$ tons per acre. Cut as soon as the Oats begin to color.

3—What Is the Quickest Growing Annual Grass? Answer—Annual Rye Grass. This produces $2\frac{1}{2}$ foot growth in 6 weeks' time. Very palatable—relished by all stock, either as pasture or when cut for hay. Sow 25 to 30 lbs. per acre broadcast. Yield $1\frac{1}{4}$ tons per acre.

4—What Are the Best Mid-Season or Summer Crops of Annual Grasses? Answer—Sudan leads them all, and with a combination of Soy Beans will outyield anything in the list for mid-summer feed. Sow 25 to 30 lbs. of Sudan Grass when seeded alone. If Chinch Bugs are promising, use one bushel of Soy Beans with 20 lbs. of Sudan. Average yield $3\frac{1}{3}$ tons per acre. No better feed available. Sure cropper. Can be sown with safety as late as August for late summer and early fall crops. We recommend Sweet Sudan, the latest improved variety.

5—What Other Good Annual Grass or Hay Crop Can Be Used Profitably? Answer—Golden Beauty or Japanese Millet. Drill or broadcast 40 to 50 lbs. per acre about corn planting time for early crop, and as late as July 15th for an early fall crop. Japanese or Billion Dollar Grass is coarser than Golden Beauty but produces excellent forage crop for all livestock. High in milk producing quality, being rich in proteins and fats. Japanese Millet makes more tonnage per acre than Golden and has a higher feeding value. For a hay crop cut just before it blossoms and cure the same as Clover. Don't let stock overload themselves with either but break them into it gradually. Sow Japanese Millet drilled or broadcast 25 to 30 lbs. per acre after danger of frost is over.

6—What About Sugar Cane for a Summer Hay or Fodder Crop? Answer—Fodder Cane makes an excellent, rich fodder crop. Can be cut when young and fed green or let mature and put in silage or fed from the shock in the fall. Often yields 30 tons per acre. When sown in drills use 20 lbs. of seed per acre or broadcast 50 lbs. per acre. Makes wonderful silage either alone or drilled in with Corn or Soy Beans and will improve materially the feeding value of the Corn. Generally seeded May, June or July. If cut and fed green, don't pasture the second growth for sometimes the second growth of leaves that come up when wet with dew form an acid, therefore, injurious to stock.

7—Does Fodder Corn Make Good Hay Crop? Answer—Yes. Either Ensilage Field Corn or Late Evergreen Sweet Corn. Drill thick on good clean land, using 3 bushels of seed per acre. Grows rapidly to height of $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 feet. When cut at this stage while still green, there just isn't anything better for cows or cattle.

8—What Is the Best Grass or Grasses for Low Bottom Marshy Ground? Answer—Reed's Canary Grass tops the list for such places. It is a Perennial crop, producing two cuttings the second season. Average yield 5 to 7 tons per acre. Sow broadcast 10 lbs. of seed per acre in early spring or in August. Necessary to sow a little heavy as seed rarely germinates above 70%. Once established, lasts for years. Almost every farmer has a small piece of low, marshy land and if seeded to Reed's Canary Grass would be a profitable crop.

9—Does Blue Grass Make the Best Permanent Pasture? Answer—Most people say yes. The green grass is richer than Alfalfa Hay. One acre contains $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 times as much digestible protein as that contained in the product of equally good land devoted to the usual 4 year grain and hay rotation. Does best on moderately moist medium to heavy type soil. Where soil is not sweet, a light top dressing of some form of lime is necessary every 3 or 4 years or the Blue Grass will disappear. A little White Dutch Clover sown with Blue Grass will add that much more to the value as they both thrive under the same conditions. The Clover will furnish the Nitragin to help feed the Blue Grass. Sow 30 to 40 lbs. per acre with 2 to 3 lbs. of White Dutch Clover.

10—What About Red Top as a Grass or Pasture Crop? Answer—Red Top will grow on soil so poor in lime that other crops fail entirely. Thrives on almost any type of soil, except sand. Grows rapidly, forming a compact sod that persists under heavy grazing. It withstands drought. The dense sod continues to grow for a longer period during the season than any other cultivated grass. Not as nutritious as Blue Grass but grows tall enough and heavy enough to make good hay on sour, acid land. Makes a good combination with Alsike. Sow in early spring 15 to 20 lbs. per acre.

11—What About Orchard Grass? Answer—Here's another Perennial Grass that deserves prominence on every farm. Gets its name from its ability to grow in the partial shade of orchards and open wood lots. It is deep rooted, which makes it drought resistant. Prefers a well-drained, rather light, neutral or sweet soil. Feeding value about the same as Timothy. Sow in spring or fall 20 to 25 lbs. per acre.

12—What Is the Value of Brome Grass as a Pasture or Hay Crop? Answer—Brome Grass is a marvelous drought defying hardy grass that makes excellent combination hay, seeded alone or with Alfalfa. Recommended by the Michigan Experiment Station. Sow in the early spring or early August, 10 lbs. of Bromus with 10 or 15 lbs. of Alfalfa per acre. Don't pasture until fairly good top growth develops. Cattle will actually eat the Brome Grass first allowing the Alfalfa better chance to get established. When seeded alone sow 20 to 25 lbs. per acre. Does well even on sandy soil. Excellent for hay or pasture.

13—What About Timothy as a Hay or Pasture Crop? Answer—As long as we have horses in this country Timothy will be indispensable as the horses prefer Timothy hay to all others. It's a short-lived perennial, not lasting more than 4 or 5 years. It grows in clumps or clusters and does not form a sod. Root system is shallow and compact. Does not reproduce or spread by sending out runners as do some other grasses, therefore, it will not stand pasturing except for short periods. Contains only a moderate amount of nutrients, its value as feed is high on account of its palatability, its slightly laxative effect, and the fact it will not injure stock no matter how much is eaten. We recommend when sowing Red Clover or Alsike to include 10 lbs. of Timothy Seed per acre, so in the event the Clover kills out the Timothy will give fair return as it is almost a sure cropper. When seeding alone, use 12 lbs. per acre.

14—What About Alsike and Timothy Mixed? Answer—This is a good pasture or hay crop—really one of the best. Sow 12 lbs. of mixed seed per acre. Does best on low bottom, moist soils where other grasses fail, but will likewise give excellent results on good upland soil. It's amazing the tonnage of hay that you can get from combination seeding of Timothy and Alsike. These are both Perennial crops. Come to maturity about the same time, making them especially suited as a combination hay or pasture crop. Once established lasts for years or until you wish to break up the meadow.

15—What About Permanent Pasture Grass Mixture? Has This Given Satisfaction Throughout the Nation? Answer—It certainly has and we highly recommend it. For many years our customers from all sections of the country have come to us annually for their supply of our especially prepared Permanent Pasture and Meadow Mixtures. Our Mixture contains proper proportions of the very Finest Quality of Medium and Mammoth Red Clover, Alsike, Sweet Clover, Alfalfa, Blue Grass, Creeping Fescue, Orchard Grass, Red Top, Rye Grass, Timothy, Bromus, and Lespedeza Sericea. It is adapted to dry or moist lands. Sow in the spring 15 lbs. per acre. Do not pasture the first season.

16—What About Annual Hog Pasture Mixture? What Do You Recommend? Answer—For many years we have been preparing annually and supplying to our customers all over the Corn Belt a special mixture that provides an abundant pasture within 6 weeks from the day it is sown, continuing green and bountiful until destroyed by frost. Almost all of the varieties in the mixture will come up again about as fast as they are eaten down and will furnish 4 to 5 times as much forage as can be obtained from any other clover-grass mixture that we know of. The food is succulent and nutritious and relished by hogs. They actually laugh and grow fat on it. It's a most profitable investment for every farmer. Usually sown right after Corn planting time but can be sown as a catch crop anytime up until August. Mixture contains proper proportions of Canadian Peas, Soy Beans, Vetches, Crimson Clover, Dwarf Essex Rape, Sugar Cane, Millet, Turnips, Rutabagas, Barley and Oats. Sow 50 lbs. per acre broadcast or use a grain drill.

17—What About Alfalfa for a Money Maker? - Answer—It still tops the list and gives universal satisfaction throughout the nation. Averages 2 to 3 cuttings a year and when produced under irrigation, 4 to 5 cuttings. It is drought-resistant. May be seeded in the spring or early fall at the rate of 18 to 20 lbs. of seed per acre. May be seeded alone or with one bushel of Barley per acre as a nurse crop. We recommend adding 5 lbs. of Timothy Seed per acre which will improve the hay greatly and assure you a full stand on any small patches where the Alfalfa might fail to come up. The Michigan College recommends adding 5 lbs. of Brome Grass and Timothy per acre with Alfalfa Seed. We have found this most satisfactory and recommend it to you. Sow on sweet land, not sour, and for best results the land should be limed.

18—What About Sweet Clover and Which Is the Best, Yellow or White Blossom or Hubam? Answer—It is a matter of opinion. The Yellow grows a little shorter and has finer texture of hay while the White grows taller and coarser. It is a profitable crop for hay pasture or for fertilizer. It's a sure builder for depleted soils. Recommend sowing it with Oats or other small grain, and when the grain is cut you have an excellent pasture way up until late fall. It produces the first green feed in the spring and the last green feed in the fall. The plant gathers abundance of Nitragin from the air, transmitting it through its roots and branches into the soil, leaving great quantities of organic matter estimated as high as 20 tons per acre, leaving the soil in perfect condition to follow with an Alfalfa crop. Most of our farmer friends sow 15 lbs. per acre with all their Oat and small grain crops and find it very profitable. Hubam Sweet Clover is an annual variety. Seeded in the spring will attain a growth of 4 to 5 feet in September in this section of the country, and if seeded with Oats or other small grains makes excellent growth, ready for pasture as soon as you cut your small grain. Being an Annual, it only lives one season. Sow 15 lbs. of seed per acre.

19—How About Medium Red Clover? - Can It Be Pastured the First Season? Answer—No. If you do, the stock will eat it down so close it will probably winter kill, therefore, reserve pasturing until the second spring. In feeding value the hay ranks next to Alfalfa. As a soil builder and for crop rotation it stands at the top of the list. Should be grown on every farm where soil and climatic conditions permit. Really regarded as the cornerstone of a permanent system of Agriculture. As a hay crop it is second only to Alfalfa. Being a Biennial, will last two seasons under good conditions. Sow in the early spring—12 lbs. of seed per acre. We recommend adding 10 lbs. of Timothy along with the Clover to insure a hay crop in the event that the Clover failed to give you a good stand.

20—What Is the Difference Between Mammoth Red and Medium Red Clover? Answer—It must be treated the same as Medium Red. It is very similar to Medium Red in seed and blossoms but makes a larger, coarser growth and more extensive root system. Matures a little later and is at the best stage for cutting the same time as Timothy. Its coarseness makes it less valuable as a market hay, but for plowing under as a fertilizer crop it is really superior to the Medium Red. Sow in the early spring with small grain 12 lbs. of seed per acre.

21—What About Alsike Clover? - Answer—It is smaller in growth than Red Clover and the blossoms are smaller, pinkish-white instead of red. Seed is much smaller so less seed is required per acre. It is used in rotation scheme like Red Clover and more frequently grown in Mixture with Timothy. It is a Biennial producing its first crop the second season and under favorable conditions many times lasts 3 or 4 years. Alsike thrives on somewhat poor soil, does not require lime and will produce well in damp spots and can be grown almost universally. Alsike Hay is equal to Red Clover in feeding value and somewhat finer in texture. Tonnage per acre a little less than Red Clover. Sow in the early spring 8 to 10 lbs. of seed per acre.

22—What About Crimson Clover? Answer—This is an Annual variety and will not live over the winter North of the Ohio River. South of the Ohio River it is a wonderful Annual Clover and really leads them all for hay for pasture and for fertilizer crop. If seeded in the North so in April and under normal conditions should be ready to cut and pasture the middle or latter part of July. We recommend an acre or two for every Northern farmer as a hog pasture. If grown for hay cut as soon as blossoms appear, which is the best time also for turning it under as a green manure crop. Sow 15 lbs. of seed per acre.

23—What About Lespedeza Clover? Answer—There are two outstanding varieties. Lespedeza Korean, an Annual variety; Sericea Lespedeza, the Perennial variety. The Annual variety produces good hay crop or pasture even on poor soil; however, much better yield on good, productive soil. Sow same time you do your Red Clover, at the rate of 12 to 15 lbs. of seed per acre. Hay is equal to Alfalfa in feeding value and compares favorably in fineness and protein content. Cut when plant is in full bloom. Makes an excellent pasture crop for all classes of livestock, Cattle, Cows, Sheep and Hogs. If your animals have never feasted on Lespedeza Clover, would recommend giving them a full feed before turning them into the Lespedeza Pasture, so they will take it on rather slowly at first. Sericea Perennial Lespedeza grows about the same as the Annual excepting that it is a Perennial type and the roots live over the winter months in latitudes South of Springfield, Illinois, and starts growth in the early spring, making 2 to 3 cuttings of excellent hay a season. Sow rather shallow in the spring or fall in well prepared, warm soil—4 lbs. of seed per acre in drills or 12 lbs. per acre broadcast. Not really suited commercially North of Springfield, Illinois.

24—What About This New Ladino Clover? Answer—This is a profitable pasture crop and also profitable seed crop. It is a Perennial form of White Dutch Clover which spreads by surface runners that root at the joints. The main branches or runners lie flat on the ground, but the leafy stalks which produce the forage grow from 15 to 24 inches tall and the leaves are about the same size as those of Red Clover. Excellent for pasture, but should not be sown except for seed purposes. Excellent for lowlands that are not wet. For pasture recommend mixture of 2 lbs. of Ladino and 3 lbs. of Medium Red Clover, 8 lbs. of Brome Grass per acre. On upland, 1 lb. Ladino Clover mixed with 8 lbs. of Alfalfa, 3 lbs. of Red Clover and 8 lbs. of Brome Grass will give a wonderful pasture that should last 4 or 5 years. For seed crops, sow 4 to 5 lbs. of seed per acre, alone with no mixture.

25—What About Birdsfoot Trefoil Clover? Answer—This is relatively new but has given perfect satisfaction. It stays green longer than most grasses. Makes fine pasture when other grasses are dried up. It's a long life, deep rooted legume that will grow on poor or rich soils. Will grow on light sandy and gravelly soils, as well as heavy clay, and will stand a moderate amount of alkali. Plants grow stems 12 to 30 inches long. Has a deep tap root with many branches. Crop resembles fine stemmed Alfalfa, and is high in mineral and protein content. Sow 5 lbs. of Seed per acre alone. In mixture, 2 lbs. with equal quantity of Timothy, Blue Grass, Orchard Grass or Brome Grass. Where sown alone it has a tendency to mat. Sow only $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch deep, no deeper, in well prepared seed bed.

26—What About Fancy White Dutch Clover? Answer—This is not a grass. It is a perennial legume that gathers nitrogen from the air, transmitting it to the soil—enriching it to produce vigorous growth of other grasses. It grows about 6 inches high, produces an abundance of white attractive blossoms. It withstands long dry spells on account of its long tapering roots. Thrives on fertile soil with a reasonable amount of moisture. During periods of high temperature it seems to disappear, but revives when cooler, rainy weather appears. It is used mostly in combination with Blue Grass and other grasses for lawn making purposes.

27—What About Cow Peas, Whippoorwill Type? Can These Be Planted With Oats? Answer—No. Don't confuse Cow Peas with Field Peas. They are definitely different. Cow Peas are really a bean. They produce a bean leaf, a bean pod and cannot be planted until all danger of frost is over. May be sown broadcast, using one bushel of seed per acre or drilled in rows, using 45 lbs. of seed per acre in rows 36 inches apart. They make a most nutritious forage crop. When turned under, furnish abundance of nitrogen, enhancing fertility of the soil. Make fine feed for all livestock and nearly equal in value to Alfalfa and wheat-bran.

28—Are Canadian Field Peas Hardy? Answer—Very hardy but not a perennial. These are truly Peas, having pea vines, and may be seeded with oats at the rate of $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of Oats to $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of Peas per acre. Make a fine hay crop, or may be seeded alone at the rate of 2 bushels per acre. We recommend using the Oats, which will hold the Pea vines off the ground and prevent lodging. For an early hay crop there isn't anything equal to Canadian Field Pea straw, which should be cut as the blossoms appear on the Pea vines.

29—Rape, Dwarf Essex. Is this a profitable Farm Crop? Answer—It certainly is. Plant grows $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 feet high with broad, fleshy leaves resembling turnips, but root system is like Cabbage. Generally used for hog and sheep pasture. May be sown in early spring or mid-summer for fall forage at the rate of 10 lbs. of seed per acre broadcast. If you add $\frac{1}{2}$ bushel of Canadian Field Peas and $\frac{1}{2}$ bushel of Oats, it will enhance the value of the pasture. It produces a profitable crop when sown with Oats, Barley or other small grain, and when the grain is cut in July, produces green feed for hogs or sheep up until very late fall. Extremely valuable for fattening lambs at weaning time. Not suitable for cow pasture as Rape gives a distasteful cabbage flavor to the milk.

30—Buckwheat, Japanese. Can this be used profitably on the farm? Answer—It depends on conditions. If you have a wet season and you cannot get your corn planted at proper time you can sow Buckwheat in this section of the country as late as the latter part of July and get a profitable grain crop. It even does well on light soils. Sow at the rate of 50 lbs. per acre broadcast or 36 lbs. if drilled.

31—What About Forage and Poultry Crops Such as Hegari, Kaffir Corn, Milo Maize, Grohoma, Atlas Sorgo, Feterita and Sunflower? Answer—These are all very profitable. Easy to grow and there is always a small piece of land that can be devoted to them that will make good returns on investment. With the exception of Sunflower, they are all planted after danger of frost is over, about corn planting time or 10 days later, but you can plant as late here as the middle of July and get good forage and grain crop. Generally drilled in rows 24 to 32 inches apart, using 6 to 8 lbs. of seed per acre. The seed crop that is produced on the top of the stalk makes excellent poultry food and in addition the stalk itself makes excellent forage for cows and all types of cattle. Stands extreme hot, dry climates where normal Corn crop fails.

32—Sunflower is a very profitable poultry crop. Should be drilled in running rows 30 to 42 inches apart after all danger of frost is over, using about 10 lbs. of seed per acre, cultivated one way. Cut seed heads in the fall before frost, place them in the barn away from the poultry until they are thoroughly dry, after which they may be shelled out and fed in combination with other grains.

33—Soybeans. Are they profitable and which is the best variety? Answer—Soybeans now are grown extensively throughout the nation. They are the second money crop, corn being first. As a hay crop, they outyield Red Clover and are equal to it in feeding value. For a green manure crop to turn under just before they ripen, they top the list. Sown with Sudan Grass, they make an excellent summer pasture. May be planted in rows 36 to 42 inches apart, cultivated one way, using $\frac{1}{2}$ bushel of seed per acre, although good results are obtained in sowing broadcast, using 1 bushel of seed per acre, providing the land is free of weeds. We recommend the drill method as the best. Another good way to plant Soybeans is in combination with Corn, dropping one or two beans in each hill of Corn and when you cut the Corn for silage the Soys furnish the balance ration of feed equal to cotton seed meal. If you don't have a silo, put Soys in Corn anyway and after harvesting the Corn turn the stock in to get the stray ears and Soys. This is just extra profit for you. As a hogging down crop Soys and Corn cannot be beaten. Also make an excellent hay crop but should be cut for hay just as the pods are formed before the seed is fully developed, so as to prevent the leaves from shattering off. Soybeans should not be planted until all danger of frost is over, but you may continue to plant for hay crop until the middle of July in this territory. There is a wide difference of opinion as to the best variety. Up here we prefer Certified Lincoln and Hawkeyes. They produce good hay crop and a ripe crop of beans.

34—Barley. Is this considered a profitable crop throughout the Corn Belt? Answer—Yes and no. It will do well wherever Oats do well but it is grown more extensively in Wisconsin than any of the other states; primarily because they are close to Milwaukee, where it is used for malting. Should be seeded in the early spring just as soon as you can get on the ground, using grain drill sowing $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 bushels of seed per acre. Barley makes a good grain crop if you wish to sow with Clover or Alfalfa. Generally Barley stands up better than Oats and that adds to its value when seeding Alfalfa, Clover or other grass seeds with it. The Wisconsin Agriculture College has devoted more time, talent and money to the betterment of this particular crop than any state in the union. For general purposes the Moore Barley, which is a Barbless variety, is still at the top of the list. Top yields in the Southern part of Wisconsin about 80 bushels per acre. Normal yield about 55 to 60 bushels per acre. Ground Barley mixed with Ground Oats, Corn and other Grains makes wonderful hog and cattle feed. Treat your Barley Seed with New Improved Ceresan before sowing. It will improve the quality and increase the yield. This is listed in our Annual Catalog.

35—Spring Wheat. Which is the leading variety and is this a profitable crop? Answer—Henry, a Bearded Variety, gives best results in this section of the nation. It produces very stiff straw, medium height, stands up well, does not lodge easily. Heads are protected by the beards, so under normal conditions the Wheat is a bright golden yellow, demanding top prices in the market. Should be seeded with grain drill just as soon as you can get on the ground, using $1\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{3}{4}$ bushels of seed per acre. This variety was developed by the Wisconsin Experiment Station. It is considered a rather tall variety although matures early. Is resistant to stem-rust, and a high yielder, averaging 30 bushels and more per acre in Northern latitudes over the past few years. Treat your Wheat Seed with New Improved Ceresan before sowing. It will improve the quality and increase the yield. This is listed in our Annual Catalog.

36—Oats. Which is the best variety of Seed Oats? Answer—That's a hard question to answer. Some people like the New Clinton best, some prefer the New Nemaha, some like Mindo and others. It is impossible to say with accuracy which is really the best variety of Seed Oats today. We can say, without fear of contradiction, that for several years now in Southern Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and adjacent territory, the New Nemaha and New Clinton have given universal satisfaction, big yields and excellent quality. Down in Central or Southern Illinois some other varieties have taken the lead; the same is true in Minnesota and Iowa. The Agricultural Colleges are constantly working to furnish better and larger yielding varieties, and no one can say, with accuracy, that we have yet attained the top in this all important crop. We can say with firmness that the New Clinton and the New Nemaha and two or three others were greatly improved over the old standard sorts, and are giving perfect satisfaction throughout the nation. The yield on Seed Oats will depend, in a measure, on the soil, the same as applies to any other crop, and we recommend keeping the fertility of your Oat fields up to a high state the same as you do on your Corn acreage. It will pay dividends to do so. Oats should be seeded just as soon as you can get on the ground in the spring, using $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 bushels per acre. Recommend treating with Improved Ceresan before sowing, which will insure a bigger, better and more profitable crop.

37—Hybrid Seed Corn. Which are the best numbers? Answer—That depends on locality where planted. There are many excellent numbers of Hybrid Seed Corn, but in this section of the country Funk's G-Hybrid various numbers gives the best satisfaction for an assured large crop of hard, high feeding value corn. We like G-114 as an outstanding, dependable yellow variety and we recommend it for this territory across Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin.

38—Flint Corn and How to Use Profitably. Primarily for hogging down and for production in extreme northern territories where yellow and white dent Corn rarely mature. Every farmer should plant 4 or 5 acres of Yellow Flint Corn for early fall feed. You can snap it and feed it early, or if you wish, you can turn the hogs in and they will do the job themselves. The leading varieties are Long-fellow Yellow Flint and Improved Yellow Yankee. Stalks grow 7 to $7\frac{1}{2}$ feet high. Ears are borne about 3 feet from the ground. Glossy yellow grains. Eight rows to the cob.

39—Silo Corn. What do you consider best variety? Answer—Silo King, in our opinion, tops the list. We have grown and offered it for a good number of years and it has given universal satisfaction to dairymen throughout the northern dairy country. It is an open-pollinated type corn grown in the South. It will not mature a hard grain corn crop in this area. Produces tall stalks averaging 10 to 12 feet high on fertile soil, and on low bottom ground much taller. It produces an abundance of broad, thick leaves and the ears are set heavy, but the Corn does not ripen in this latitude but it surely makes a marvelous silage and produces heavy tonnage per acre. We recommend drilling in rows 42 inches apart, cultivated one way, using 30 lbs. of seed per acre. If you want some ripe Corn in your silo, mix one-third native Corn with two-thirds of Silo King. This combination makes better feeding value than just silage alone.

40—Alta Fescue. Is this a Perennial? Answer—Yes. Makes an outstanding pasture or hay crop. Deep rooted, tufted, long-living perennial grass with many leaves coming from the crown of the plant, which are darker green and broader, and coarser than Meadow Fescue. It has few seed stocks. Grows to height of 36 inches. Prefers a rather heavy soil but gives favorable results on a wide diversity of soils. In Oregon is winter hardy, but not entirely so in all parts of our Northern states. Adapted for forage where rainfall is 15 inches or above and where altitude is not more than 5000 feet. Good soil builder especially on heavy land because of the action of the roots in opening up the soil below plow depth and because of the large amount of organic material being accumulated as a result of partial renewal of the root system each year. Sow in early spring or from September 10th to October 15th with grain drill at the rate of 15 to 18 lbs. per acre. Seed should be covered not more than 1 inch deep. Gives excellent results seeded with Barley or Wheat.

41—Colonial Bent Grass. Is this good grass for the farm? Answer—No. It is a perennial used almost exclusively for Lawns, Putting Greens, Playgrounds, Golf Courses, etc. It is the only variety of True Creeping Bent that can be planted from seed and be assured of success. Spreads rapidly by underground root stocks, but seldom makes stolons. It forms a deep resistant sod of fine texture with a dark green color. Withstands drought better than any other variety of Bent Grass we know of and thrives on stiff soil. Is an excellent year-round variety for Lawns. One pound will seed 200 sq. ft. of new lawn or one-half this amount on an old lawn. In our Supreme Lawn Seed Mixture you will find proper proportion included.

42—Creeping Red Fescue. In this a good grass for the farm? Answer—No. It is a perennial plant producing a turf similar to Chewing Fescue. Spreads by underground runners that make extremely tight, uniform sod. The leaves are needlelike, deep green in color. Thrives on all types of soil, even on dry, sandy sod land. It keeps its color the year around and is excellent for shady places such as under trees on your lawn or in between apartment buildings. In addition, it is not winter-killed. Creeping Red Fescue is ideal for use on Lawns, Golf Courses, Airports, Cemeteries, and Playgrounds. On new lawn sow 1 lb. to 200 sq. ft. or 30 to 35 lbs. per acre for pasture.
